

The Story Thread Finder

LAUREN FINE, MD · LAURENFINE.COM

04

"Most people can't see the thread connecting their experiences. This worksheet helps you find it."

Your life isn't a series of random events — it has a through-line. This guide helps you map your timeline, identify recurring themes, and find the narrative thread that makes your story coherent. Use it before a major pivot, a personal statement, or whenever you need to articulate who you are and where you're going.

HOW TO USE THIS WORKSHEET

1. Work chronologically — don't skip chapters you'd rather forget.
2. Look for what repeats across roles, contexts, and decades.
3. The thread is often something you didn't choose consciously.
4. Reserve 60–90 minutes. This is not a quick exercise.

YOUR LIFE IN CHAPTERS — A QUICK TIMELINE

Name 5-7 defining chapters or periods of your life. Don't overthink labels.

Chapter 1:

Chapter 2:

Chapter 3:

Chapter 4:

Chapter 5:

Chapter 6:

Part Two — Pattern Recognition

What skills appear in every chapter, even when the role changed?

Not job titles — underlying abilities that followed you.

What problems do you keep getting drawn to solve?

The issues that find you, not the ones you chose.

When have you felt most like yourself? What was true in those moments?

Look for conditions, not just contexts.

What have you walked away from — and what did that reveal about your values?

Exits are often as revealing as entrances.

What do the people who know you best say you consistently bring?

What would three different people from three different chapters all say?

Part Three — Finding Your Thread

THE THEME OR QUALITY THAT APPEARS IN EVERY CHAPTER:

THE SENTENCE THAT CONNECTS WHERE I'VE BEEN TO WHERE I'M GOING:

WHAT I WANT THE NEXT CHAPTER OF THIS STORY TO BE ABOUT:

MY STORY — IN TWO SENTENCES:

READY TO GO DEEPER?

Work through your story thread with Lauren — coaching for people at every inflection point.
laurenfine.com/coaching · reasondxcoaching@gmail.com